Welcome to Mississippi State University and Starkville! We are very pleased that you have joined us as a faculty member and hope that you will have a productive and happy career experience here. This New Faculty Information Guide is designed to orient you to some basic information that you may find helpful as you get started. It is not meant to be exhaustive or authoritative, but to help guide you to information to ease your transition.

New Faculty Orientation is scheduled for August 9, followed by a New Faculty Teaching Academy on August 10 for those who have teaching assignments. If you are a tenure-track faculty member, you are requested to attend the one-day New Faculty Orientation session or a make-up program which will be held in early fall.

The New Faculty Orientation program schedules activities throughout the year which are designed to help acclimate you to life as a faculty member here, and functions to help you meet your new colleagues. More details on these programs are found elsewhere. Additionally, the Center for Teaching and Learning offers a full range of faculty development programs that are scheduled throughout the year. Individual consultation and support are also available for new faculty members.

Again, welcome to MSU. Please let me know if I can be of assistance to you.

Linda W. Morse, Ph. D.
Director, Center for Teaching and Learning
ABOUT MSU

Mississippi State University forms part of a cohesive town-university community with the growing agricultural-commercial-industrial town of Starkville. Located in the eastern part of north-central Mississippi, it is 125 miles northeast of Jackson and 23 miles west of Columbus; it is served by Highways 82, 12 and 25 and by feeder air service through the Golden Triangle Regional Airport 14 miles east. Away from urban complexities, the community enjoys many intellectual, cultural, and recreational advantages: the MSU-Starkville Civic Symphony and Chorus; the Starkville Community Theater; the University Lyceum series, bringing professional musical, dramatic, and artistic groups and performers to the campus; art exhibits, plays, and recitals by local and visiting artists; public radio and public television programs through Mississippi Public Broadcasting performances by popular musical groups of regional and national celebrity; frequent intercollegiate athletic events in modern facilities; and a variety of recreational opportunities on playing fields and courts, in neighboring forests, fields, and lakes, and along the nearby Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway.

The University

Mississippi State University is a comprehensive, doctoral-degree-granting university offering to a diverse and capable student body a wide range of opportunities and challenges for learning and growth; to the world of knowledge, vigorous and expanding contributions in research, discovery, and application; and to the State and its people in every region, a variety of expert services. Mississippi State University is designated as a Doctoral/Extensive institution by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching. It is representative of the American Land-Grant tradition and distinctive in its own character and spirit, born of its Mississippi heritage and the vision and loyal perseverance of those who have labored in its development. Mississippi State University is accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges to award baccalaureate, masters, specialist, and doctorate degrees. Contact the Commission on Colleges at 1866 Southern Lane, Decatur, Georgia 30033-4097 or call 404-679-4500 for questions about the accreditation of Mississippi State University.

An able faculty, drawn from the best institutions in all parts of the nation, strive earnestly to demonstrate excellence in teaching, while producing in their specialized studies scholarly books, articles, and conference papers that gain respect for themselves, the University, and the state. Thus they ensure for their students instruction that is in immediate touch with current knowledge and thought. A body of energetic researchers, both faculty and other, assisted by an effective research administration, places Mississippi State among the first one hundred universities in the nation in research and development in the sciences and engineering. The University’s service agencies are similarly distinguished, earning the respect and support of their varied constituencies throughout the state, as well as in other states and in foreign countries.

The History

The University began as The Agricultural and Mechanical College of the State of Mississippi, one of the national Land-Grant Colleges established after Congress had passed the Morrill Act in 1862. It was created by the Mississippi Legislature on February 28, 1878, to fulfill the mission of offering training in "agriculture, horticulture and the mechanical arts . . . without excluding other scientific and classical studies, including military tactics." The College received its first students in the fall of 1880 in the presidency of Confederate General Stephen D. Lee. In 1887 Congress passed the Hatch Act, which provided for the establishment of the Agricultural Experiment Station in 1888. Two other pieces of federal legislation provided funds for extending the mission of the College: in 1914, the Smith-Lever Act called for "instruction in practical agriculture and home economics to persons not attendant or resident," thus creating the state-wide effort which led to Extension offices in every county in the State; and, in 1917, the Smith-Hughes Act provided for the training of teachers in vocational education.

By 1932, when the Legislature renamed the College as Mississippi State College, it consisted of the Agricultural Experiment Station (1887), the College of Engineering (1902), the College of Agriculture (1903), the School of Industrial Pedagogy (1909), the School of General Science (1911), the College of Business and Industry (1915), the Mississippi Agricultural Extension Service (1915), and the Division of Continuing Education, (1919). Further, in 1926 the College had received its first accreditation by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools.

By 1958, when the Legislature again renamed the College, as Mississippi State University, the Office of Graduate Studies had been organized (1936), doctoral degree programs had begun (1951), the School of Forest Resources had been established (1954), and the College of Arts and Sciences had been created (1956). The College of Architecture admitted its first students in 1973. The College of Veterinary Medicine admitted its first class in 1977, and the School of Accountancy was established in 1979.

The Purposes

As a Land-Grant institution, Mississippi State University is dedicated to the three broad purposes already mentioned-learning, research, and service: learning, on-campus and off-campus, to enhance the intellectual, cultural, social, and professional development of its students; research, both to extend the present limits of knowledge and to bring deeper insight, understanding, and usefulness to existing knowledge; and service, to apply knowledge and the fruits of research to the lives of people.

Fulfilling these purposes is the chief work of the large number of educational units that make up the total university, including, among others, the academic departments, schools, and colleges; Continuing Education; the Mississippi State University Extension Service, and the Mississippi Agricultural and Forestry Experiment Station.

The quality of the faculty, staff, and administrators ensures the high quality of the instruction, research, and service provided. The quality of the University’s programs ensures that its students receive a well-designed and comprehensive education that will assist them to lead constructive lives and achieve their personal and professional goals.

The University Today

Mississippi State University now comprises the following academic units: the College of Agriculture and Life Sciences including the School of Human Sciences; the College of Architecture, Art and Design; the College of Arts and Sciences; the College of Business including the Adkerson School of Accountancy; the College of Education; the Bagley College of Engineering including the Swalm School of Chemical Engineering; the College of Forest Resources; the Office of the Graduate School, and the College of Veterinary Medicine. In addition, the Mississippi Agricultural and Forestry Experiment Station, operating 16 branch stations throughout the State, conducts research in a variety of areas and assists in the University's teaching and service functions. Finally, the Mississippi State University Extension Service offers programs and services to the people of the State through campus and county offices and personnel. Supporting the academic and educational programs of the total University are the Mitchell Memorial Library and branch libraries.

Within the framework of the University, several units perform specialized teaching, research, or service activities. Among these are the Center for Distance Education, Shackouls Honors College, the Advanced Research Projects Laboratory, the Center for Safety and Health, the Center for Science, Mathematics and Technology, the Electron Microscope Center, the High Performance Computing Collaboratory, the Institute for Digital Biology, the Institute for Neurocognitive Science and Technology, the Franklin Furniture Institute, Forest and Wildlife Research Center, Sustainable Energy Research Center, the Mississippi State Chemical Lab, the Research and Curriculum Unit, the Center for Education and Training Technology, the GeoResources Institute, the Life Sciences and Biotechnology Institute, the Social Science Research Center, the Carl Small Town Center, the Design Research and Informatics Lab, the Educational Design Institute, the Jackson Community Design Center (JCDC), the The Gulf Coast Community Design Studio, the Biological and Physical Sciences Resources Institute, the Center for Computational Sciences, the Cobb Institute of Archaeology, the Institute for the Humanities, the The John C. Stennis Institute of Government, the Center for Educational Partnerships, the Early Childhood Institute, the Rehabilitation Research and Training Center on Blindness and Low Vision, the Mississippi Writing/Thinking Institute, the T. K. Martin Center for Technology and Disability, the Center for Advanced Vehicular Systems, the Center for Computer Security Research, the Center for DoD Programming Environment and Training, the Computational Simulation and Design Center, the Institute for Clean Energy Technology, the High Voltage Laboratory, and the Raspet Flight Laboratory.

Mississippi State University operates an off-campus, degree-granting center in Meridian where both undergraduate and graduate programs are offered and a program center at the Stennis Space Center. In cooperation with the U. S. Army Engineer Waterways Experiment Station, the College of Engineering offers the Master of Science degree to qualified students in Vicksburg.

The Board of Trustees of State Institutions of Higher Learning has designated Mississippi State University as a comprehensive, doctoral degree-granting university. This designation, in concert with the University's original Land-Grant mission, make Mississippi State University a major contributor to the educational system of the State. For over a century, the State has benefited from the University and its graduates, most of whom have remained in Mississippi and aided the State’s economic, social, and educational development. Through its membership in such organizations as the Southern Regional Education Board, the American Council on Education, and the National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges, Mississippi State University is justly recognized for its educational and technological contributions to the national and international communities. The commitment of faculty, administrators, and staff personnel is to continue the high quality of teaching, research, and service to Mississippi.

TRADITIONS
Mississippi State University athletic teams are called Bulldogs, a name earned and maintained over the decades by the tough, tenacious play of student-athletes wearing the Maroon and White. The official school mascot is an American Kennel Club registered English Bulldog, given the inherited title of 'Bully'.

As with most universities, State teams answered to different nicknames through the years. The first squads representing Mississippi A&M College were proud to be called Aggies, and when the school officially became Mississippi State College in 1932 the nickname Maroons, for State’s uniform color, gained prominence. Bulldogs became the official title for State teams in 1961, not long after State College was granted university status. Yet references to school teams and athletes as Bulldogs actually go back to early in the century, and this nickname was used almost interchangeably with both Aggies and Maroons, since at least 1905.

On November 30 of that year, the A&M football team shut out their arch-rivals from the University of Mississippi 11-0 in Jackson, Miss. The campus newspaper, The Reflector, reported: "After the game, filled with that emotion that accompanies every great victory, there was nothing left for the cadets to do but to complete the great victory by showing sympathy for the dead athletic spirit of the University, by having a military funeral parade. A coffin was secured, decorated with University colors and a bulldog pup placed on top. It was then placed on the shoulders of a dozen cadets, and the procession started down Capitol Street, preceded by the brass band playing a very pathetic funeral march."

Other newspaper reports of the victory commented on the 'bulldog' style of play by the A&M eleven, and the Bulldog was soon publicly accepted as a school athletic symbol. Accounts of a 1926 pep rally in Meridian, Miss., had another bulldog parading with students.

Use as an official game mascot began in 1935 when Coach Major Ralph Sasse, on 'orders' from his team, went to Memphis, Tenn., to select a bulldog. Ptolemy, a gift of the Edgar Webster family, was chosen and the Bulldogs promptly defeated Alabama 20-7.

A litter-mate of Ptolemy became the first mascot called 'Bully' shortly after Sasse’s team beat mighty Army 13-7 at West Point that same year, perhaps the greatest victory in MSU football history. But Bully I earned other fame the hard way, in 1939 when a campus bus cut short his career.
Days of campus mourning followed, as Bully lay in state in a glass coffin. A half-mile funeral procession accompanied by the Famous Maroon Band and three ROTC battalions went to Scott Field where Bully was buried under the bench at the 50-yard line. Even LIFE Magazine covered to the event. Other Bullys have since been buried by campus dorms, fraternity houses, and also at the football stadium.

For years Bully was a target for kidnappers, the last incident occurring prior to the 1974 State-Ole Miss game. The Bulldog team won anyway, 31-13. While early Bullys once roamed campus freely or lived in fraternities, today the official university mascot is housed at the College of Veterinary Medicine when not on duty at State home football games. For all their fierce appearance and reputation, today’s mascot bulldogs are good-natured, friendly animals and favorites with children.

A student wearing a Bulldog suit, also answering to Bully, is part of the MSU cheerleading team and assists in stirring up State spirit at games and pep rallies.

The most unique and certainly the most resounding symbol of Mississippi State University tradition is the cowbell. Despite decades of attempts by opponents and authorities to banish it from scenes of competition, diehard State fans still celebrate Bulldog victories loudly and proudly with the distinctive sound of ringing cowbells.

The precise origin of the cowbell as a fixture of Mississippi State sports tradition remains unclear to this day. The best records have cowbells gradually introduced to the MSU sports scene in the late 1930s and early 1940s, coinciding with the 'golden age' of Mississippi State football success prior to World War II.

The most popular legend is that during a home football game between State and arch-rival Mississippi, a jersey cow wandered onto the playing field. Mississippi State soundly whipped the Rebels that Saturday, and State College students immediately adopted the cow as a good luck charm. Students are said to have continued bringing a cow to football games for a while, until the practice was eventually discontinued in favor of bringing just the cow’s bell.

Whatever the origin, it is certain that by the 1950s cowbells were common at Mississippi State games, and by the 1960s were established as the special symbol of Mississippi State. Ironically, the cowbell’s popularity grew most rapidly during the long years when State football teams were rarely successful. Flaunting this anachronism from the 'aggie' days was a proud response by students and alumni to outsider scorn of the university’s ‘cow college’ history.

In the 1960s two MSU professors, Earl W. Terrell and Ralph L. Reeves obliged some students by welding handles on the bells to they could be rung with much more convenience and authority. By 1963 the demand for these long-handled cowbells could not be filled by home workshops alone, so at the suggestion of Reeves the Student Association bought bells in bulk and the Industrial Education Club agreed to weld on handles. In 1964 the MSU Bookstore began marketing these cowbells with a portion of the profits returning to these student organizations.
Today many styles of cowbells are available on campus and around Starkville, with the top-of-the-line a heavy chrome-plated model with a full Bulldog figurine handle. But experts insist the best and loudest results are produced by a classic long-handled, bicycle-grip bell made of thinner and tightly-welded shells.

Cowbells decorate offices and homes of Mississippi State alumni, and are passed down through generations of Bulldog fans.

In 1974, the SEC adopted a rule against artificial noisemakers that made it illegal to ring a cowbell during games. Despite creative efforts by MSU fans to circumvent the ruling and continue the tradition, the ban was in effect until 2010.

That spring, the 12 schools of the SEC agreed to a compromise on artificial noisemakers, acknowledging the role cowbells play in the history of Mississippi State University by amending the conference by-law. In the fall of 2010, on a one-year trial with specified restrictions, cowbells were permitted in Davis Wade Stadium for the first time in 36 years. And due to MSU fans’ notable adherence to the rules outlined by the league, cowbells have been allowed at MSU home football games since with similar restrictions in place.

Maroon and White are the distinctive colors of Mississippi State University athletic teams, dating back over a century to the very first football game ever played by the school’s student-athletes.

On November 15, 1895, the first Mississippi A&M football team was preparing for a road trip to Jackson, Tenn., to play Southern Baptist University (now called Union University) the following day. Since every college was supposed to have its own uniform colors, the A&M student body requested that the school’s team select a suitable combination.

Considering making this choice an honor, the inaugural State team gave the privilege to team captain W.M. Matthews. Accounts report that without hesitation Matthews chose Maroon and White.

In the 100 years since, every Mississippi State athlete has donned Maroon and White in some combination. At times a shade of gray has been added to the scheme, such as for the numerals. Briefly in the 1980s the men’s and women’s basketball teams wore all-gray uniforms with maroon and white trim, while football has at times sported silver game pants, and baseball will often wear all-gray road outfits.

In 1938 football coach Spike Nelson secretly had cardinal and gold uniforms made for State, a selection that did not sit well with the team or the college at the first game. Neither the uniforms nor Nelson were back for the next season.

In recent years, as has become commonplace in collegiate athletics, the Mississippi State athletic department has mixed in black jerseys in several sports. In 2011, the Bulldogs debuted football uniforms trimmed in gold for the season-ending Battle for the Golden Egg.

Hail State

Hail dear ‘ole State!
Fight for that victory today.
Hit that line and tote that ball,
Cross the goal before you fall!
And then we’ll yell, yell, yell, yell!
For dear ‘ole State we’ll yell like
H-E-L-L!
Fight for Mis-sis-sip-pi State,
Win that game today!
~Words and music by
Joseph Burleson Peavey, 1939

Maroon and White

In the heart of Mississippi
Made by none but God’s own hands
Stately in her nat’ral splendor
Our Alma Mater proudly stands.
State College of Mississippi,
Fondest mem’ries clings to thee.
Life shall hoard thy spirit ever,
Loyal sons we’ll always be.

Chorus:
Maroon & White! Maroon & White!
Of thee with joy we sing.
Thy colors bright, our souls delight,
With praise our voices ring.
Tho’ our life some pow’r may vanquish,
Loyalty can’t be o’er run;
Honors true on thee we lavish
Until the setting of the sun;
Live Maroon and White forever,
Ne’er can evil mar thy fame,
Nothing us from thee can sever,
Alma Mater we acclaim.
~Words by T. Paul Haney Jr.

Assessment & Test Services

The first set of reports shown is for a test scored by Test Services. (Please note this is a sample test of fictional students with fictional grades for the purposes of illustration.) To get a test scored, you will need to complete a key on a Scantron answer sheet and submit it with your students’ answer sheets. Test Services can provide several reports to you including:

- Summary Information
- Scoring Frequency
- Test Item Response Analysis
- Student Ranking

Of these reports, you will likely find the Test Item Response Analysis the most helpful in analyzing test results. The DIF Index is the item’s difficulty – shown as percentages correct in this analysis. (The higher the index, the more people chose the correct answer.) The DISC refers to the Discrimination of the item, and should be a positive number. (A positive number indicates that high scoring students on the test also got that particular item correct.) The Center for Teaching and Learning regularly sponsors seminars on good testing practices, and it would be helpful to attend one of these sessions to gain a better understanding of interpreting these numbers within the context of a specific test (i.e., criterion referenced or norm referenced). The other helpful report is the student ranking, where you can obtain the raw score and percent.

A few other hints: Make sure your students fill in the identification field with at least 4 numbers, starting in column A, and use a #2 pencil. Be sure to take a jump drive to record the results when you submit the tests for scoring.

Student Evaluation of Instructors

Following the section on test analyses, you will see a series of SETs that are designed for specific class formats: (a) lecture, (b) discussion, (c) studio, (d) labs, (e) distance/online, and (f) specific forms used within departments. An instructor will receive the appropriate form, along with instructions, after mid-term. They should be completed and returned as prescribed. The instructor will receive a summary (see sample included) along with specific students comments during the next term. Please note that the sample is a draft.

Please respond to the following questions regarding your experiences with the instructor in this course.

1.1 The instructor created high expectations for the class.
1.2 The instructor conveyed the course content in an effective manner.
1.3 The instructor made the class interesting.
1.4 The instructor was enthusiastic about the subject matter.
1.5 The instructor was accessible outside of class time to respond to any questions or concerns.
1.6 I learned a great deal in this class.
1.7 The presentation of course content (lectures, web materials, and/or discussions, etc.) helped me learn in this class.
1.8 The tests were fair.
1.9 The tests reflected material presented in lecture and/or assigned reading.
1.10 Tests and/or assignments were graded within a reasonable period of time.
1.11 I would recommend this instructor to other students if they wanted to learn the subject.

2. Please share additional comments about this course. Comments are only seen by the instructor of the course.
With a complementary blend of traditional and new library dynamics, MSU Libraries are at the forefront of the research and technology worlds. Step into the libraries and find books, journals, newspapers, and articles on every imaginable subject, plus much more. The libraries offer access to thousands of online journal titles and databases to support student research, and many areas in Mitchell Memorial Library offer wireless Internet access. To use a computer while on campus, stop by the computer commons.

Students working on a group project can reserve study rooms, which are perfect for small-group meetings. Branch libraries provide unique resources in the disciplines of architecture, art and design, and veterinary medicine. The Meridian campus offers library services and resources for faculty and students there.

The Instructional Media Center has a Multimedia Lab provides state-of-the-art hardware and software, professional staff and highly-trained lab assistants, and an environment conducive to individual and group project work. The center also has instructional books, videos, and other items to help those who may not need the intensive help offered by one-on-one assistance.

Information Technology Services (ITS) was created in 1998 from a merger of the Thomas E. Tramel Computing Center and the Telecommunications department. Merging of these two organizations was precipitated by the accelerating convergence of voice and data information processing and networking technologies.

Through the years, and in response to evolving University needs and the ever-changing information technology landscape, ITS has also evolved. Today the organization consists of three primary units – Information Technology Infrastructure, Enterprise Information Systems, and User Services. The Chief Information Officer, who reports to the Provost and Executive Vice President, is responsible for operational and budgetary oversight of ITS.

Services provided by ITS include accounts for email, myBanner, and myCourses; the Campus Card Office; classroom technology; computer labs; internet and wireless; network video; network printing; and service requests. A variety of software is provided by ITS, including the antivirus software, Sophos. For a complete listing of available software, see http://www.its.msstate.edu/software/downloads.

Faculty needing assistance with technology should contact the ITS Help Desk. They may either call or visit 108 Allen Hall.

Dean of Students

Allen Hall
Mississippi State, MS 39762
http://www.students.msstate.edu/
662-325-3611

The Dean of Students’ Office, a department within the Division of Student Affairs, serves as a key link between students, parents, administration, and academia. The Office supports both the academic mission of Mississippi State University and the Division of Student Affairs by providing programs, services, resources, and advocacy for the needs and interests of all students at Mississippi State University. Open to all students of the University, staff members provide educational opportunities for students to develop appropriate community behaviors and personal values while providing support to students and parents with personal or University concerns. The staff also assists students and parents in navigating the administrative process of the University.

A Behavioral Intervention Team works with students displaying potentially dangerous behaviors to prevent campus violence. Faculty members observing unusual behaviors in students must report them to this team. For more information, see http://www.students.msstate.edu/bit/. To report an incident, use the Incident Report Form. For information on how to deal with students displaying disruptive behaviors, see Frequently Asked Questions by Faculty and Staff at http://www.students.msstate.edu/bit/faq/index.php.

Student Honor Code Office

Allen Hall, Room 610 · P.O. Box 9503
Mississippi State, MS 39762
http://www.honorcode.msstate.edu/
662-325-9151

In 2007 Mississippi State University became the first public university in Mississippi to adopt a Student Honor Code. The purpose of the Student Honor Code is to promote the highest standards of integrity and honor for our students both in and outside of the classroom. The Student Honor Code states, “Academic dishonesty is a corrosive force in the academic life of a university. It jeopardizes the quality of education and depreciates the genuine achievements of others.” For this reason, the Student Honor Code seeks to promote academic integrity across the campus. Each student who enrolls in the institution agrees to abide by the Student Honor Code. The Honor Code states, “As a Mississippi State University student, I will conduct myself with honor and integrity at all times. I will not lie, cheat, or steal, nor will I accept the actions of those who do.”

Cases of academic misconduct are referred to the Student Honor Code Office. Sanctions for incidents deemed academic misconduct could include: a zero on the assignment, lowered course grade, dismissal from the University, and/or an XF in the course. An XF signifies failure because of academic misconduct. The XF may be replaced by an F if a student successfully completes the academic integrity intervention program.

The above information was taken from honorcode.msstate.edu
Examples of academic misconduct may include:

- Cheating: Intentionally using or attempting to use unauthorized materials, information, notes, study aids or other devices or materials in any academic exercise.
- Fabrication: Making up data or results and recording or reporting them.
- Falsification: Manipulating research materials, equipment, or processes, or changing or omitting data or results such that the research or academic work is not accurately represented in the research or work record.
- Multiple Submissions: The submission of substantial portions of the same work (including oral reports) for credit more than once without authorization from the instructor of the class for which the student submits the work.
- Plagiarism: The appropriation of another person’s ideas, processes, results, or words without giving appropriate credit.
- Complicity: Intentionally or knowingly helping, or attempting to help, another to commit an act of academic dishonesty.

As a Mississippi State University student, I will conduct myself with honor and integrity at all times. I will not lie, cheat, or steal, nor will I accept the actions of those who do.

Helpful Information about Getting Started

1. What is myState and Banner?

   MyState is a portal to a suite of administrative software modules that allows the MSU community to use the web for a variety of functions and to access information. For example, MSU faculty use Banner to view the course catalog, view the class schedule, view enrollment information, view building and room schedules, view admissions applicants, view current student academic information, view student transcripts and degrees, view student academic information, view class rosters, enter student grades, view payment information, view deductions and benefits, and view tax forms. To access myBanner, go to https://mybanner.msstate.edu/. Your level of access is granted by your department.

2. Where do I get my ID card?

   You can get your ID card on the first floor of Allen Hall, across from the Math Domain.

3. What is my net ID?

   All Mississippi State University faculty, staff, and students have an electronic network identifier, the NetID. The NetID is a unique identifier for accessing a variety of information technology resources. NetIDs are displayed on MSU ID cards and on class rosters.

4. How can I get an email address?

   Your department will help you set up an email address. For more information, see http://www.its.msstate.edu/services/accounts/email/fs.

5. When are salary payments issued?

   Checks are deposited into your designated bank account on the last day of the month and the 16th day. Nine month faculty may elect to have their pay distributed over 12 months. See the Human Resources Management website for more information at http://www.hrm.msstate.edu/.
6. Where can I learn about the Faculty Senate?

MSU has a long history of shared governance. Faculty Senate meets every month during the academic year with elected representatives from the faculty. The current President is Dr. Cody Coyne from the College of Veterinary Medicine. The Faculty Senate web site is http://www.facultysenate.msstate.edu/.

7. Where can I find the Faculty Handbook?

The Faculty Handbook is found at http://www.msstate.edu/web/faculty_handbook/handbook.pdf.

8. Where can I find out about Promotion and Tenure policies?

To find out about Promotion and Tenure policies, see the Provost and Executive Vice President’s web site at http://www.provost.msstate.edu/fsr/faculty/guidelines/.

9. What is MSU’s QEP (Quality Enhancement Plan)?

MSU is engaged in a 5-year Quality Enhancement Plan (QEP) called Maroon and Write as part of the institution’s regional accreditation. This plan seeks to improve the quality of student writing during students’ academic careers. The two goals include improving students’ writing quality and increasing writing frequency, and developing faculty who incorporate writing strategies in their classes. For more information, see http://www.qep.msstate.edu/.

10. Where can I learn more about MSU’s policies?

To learn about MSU’s policies, see http://www.policies.msstate.edu/.

11. Where can I park? Where do I get a permit?

You may either purchase a gated parking pass for a specific gated lot, or you may purchase a regular parking pass. For information about specific parking passes and how to obtain a parking permit, see http://www.parkingoperations.msstate.edu/parking/ or visit Parking Operations in the YMCA Building.
12. Is there a campus bus system?

There is a campus bus system that includes a variety of campus bus routes, as well as the SMART system that runs between campus and locations in Starkville. See http://www.smart.msstate.edu/ for more information, including a live map of bus routes and arrival times.

13. Is there a campus newspaper?

MSU has a student newspaper, The Reflector, that is published twice weekly during the fall and spring semesters. See http://www.reflector-online.com/ for more information.

14. How else can I find out about campus activities?

To find out about upcoming campus activities and events, see the Event Calendar located on the MSU Homepage and at http://www.msstate.edu/web/calendar/. Also see the website for the Lyceum Series at http://www.lyceum.msstate.edu/.

15. How can I get tickets to athletic events?

16. Is there a gym on campus?

Faculty members may use the Joe Frank Sanderson Center after purchasing a membership. The facility includes a gymnasium, racquetball courts, a jogging track, an indoor swimming pool, a rec room, an outdoor sunning deck, a strength and aerobic conditioning room, a climbing wall, 3 aerobics/dance studios, conference and training rooms, locker rooms, and equipment rentals. See http://www.recsports.msstate.edu/ for more information.

17. Can a faculty or staff member use the Longest Student Health Center?

Faculty may make appointments for physicians’ services at the Longest Student Health Center (SHC). See http://www.health.msstate.edu/healthcenter/ for more information including a fee schedule.
18. What is faculty housing?

MSU has a limited number of houses and duplexes available for rent. See http://www.fm.msstate.edu/housing for more information.

19. Does MSU have an Ombuds office for faculty?

Yes, the Office of the Ombudsman can be reached at 325-5172.

20. How can I contact the Title IX coordinator?

Brett Harvey can be reached at bharvey@hrm.msstate.edu.

Helpful Information about Teaching

1. What kinds of instructional technologies are used at MSU?

MSU uses several instructional technologies. Some of the most prominent ones include Blackboard, Safe Assign, Respondus, and Turning Technologies. For more information and a comprehensive listing of available technologies, see the Center for Teaching and Learning’s website at http://ctl.msstate.edu/ and also ITS’s website at http://www.its.msstate.edu/.

2. Where can I find out about faculty development opportunities?

To learn about faculty development opportunities, see the Center for Teaching and Learning’s website at http://ctl.msstate.edu/.

3. Where is the academic calendar?

The academic calendar can be accessed off the MSU Homepage or at http://www.registrar.msstate.edu/Calendars/academiccal.html.

4. Where is the exam schedule?

The exam schedule can be accessed from the MSU Homepage by clicking on “Calendars” or at http://www.registrar.msstate.edu/Students/examschedule.html.

5. What grading system is used at MSU?

For information about the grading system used at MSU, see http://www.policies.msstate.edu/policypdfs/1212.pdf. MSU uses the letter grades of A, B, C, D, F, and I.
6. How are text books ordered?

For information about textbook adoption, see http://www.policies.msstate.edu/policypdfs/1014.pdf. See the Barnes and Noble website at https://www.facultyenlight.com/?storeNbr=204 for information on ordering textbooks.

7. What is myCourses?

myCourses is MSU’s learning or course management system powered by Blackboard. To set up your course, you need to MARK it in myBanner. Your department will give you access to myBanner. Faculty may call the ITS Help Desk when they have questions at 662.325.0631 or 888.398.6394 from 7:30 a.m.-12:00 a.m. Monday through Thursday, 7:30 A.M.-5:00 P.M. Friday, and 1:00 P.M.-12:00 A.M. Sunday. See http://www.its.msstate.edu/support/helpdesk/ for more information.

8. Where is the library, and who should be contacted for instructional support?

The physical location of Mitchell Memorial Library is 395 Hardy Road, and it can be accessed off the Drill Field or off Hardy Road. The website is http://library.msstate.edu/. To request library instruction sessions for your class, see http://library.msstate.edu/request-instruction.

9. What is the MSU Honor Code?

MSU’s Honor Code states, “As an MSU student I will conduct myself with honor and integrity at all times. I will not lie, cheat, or steal, nor will I accept the actions of those who do.” For more information and for classroom procedures, see http://www.honorcode.msstate.edu/.

10. How can I incorporate Service Learning into my courses?

To learn about incorporating service learning into your courses, see the website for the Center for the Advancement of Service-Learning Excellence at http://servicelearning.msstate.edu/.

11. Is there a Study Abroad office?

The Study Abroad office is located in 160 Lloyd Ricks Building. Visit the website at http://studyabroad.msstate.edu/.
12. What are faculty responsibilities for instruction?

To view the Academic Operating Policy and Procedure for Faculty Responsibilities in Instruction and Curriculum, go to http://www.policies.msstate.edu/policypdfs/1303.pdf.

13. Is there a Test Services office?

Test Services, located primarily on the second floor of Allen Hall, provides test scanning services available to all MSU faculty. See the office’s website at http://www.ir.msstate.edu/testserv.htm for more information. (See additional information under campus offices for Office of Institutional Research & Effectiveness.)

14. Are student evaluations of instructors used at MSU?

Student evaluations of instructors are used at MSU, but are only one aspect of instructor evaluation. Individual instructors and departments will oversee student evaluations of instructors. (See additional information under campus offices for Office of Institutional Research & Effectiveness.)

Office of Research Compliance

53 Morgan Avenue · P.O. Box 6223
Mississippi State, MS 39762
http://www.orc.msstate.edu/
662-325-3294

The Office of Research Compliance is a unit of the Office of the Vice President for Research and Economic Development. ORC provides support and training in the regulatory requirements for the conduct of scientific research for University faculty members, researchers, students. To that end, ORCS oversees programs in human research protections, animal care and use, financial conflict of interest, and biological safety.

The regulatory oversight committees include the Institutional Review Board for the Protection of Human Subjects in Research (IRB), the Institutional Animal Care and Use Committee (IACUC), the Conflict of Interest Review Committee (CIRC), and the Institutional Biosafety Committee (IBC). Each area has a compliance officer/coordinate that assists researchers in meeting compliance requirements, facilitating committee reviews and monitoring compliance. The Office of Research Compliance seeks to respectfully guide and serve the Mississippi State University community while engaging in research through compliance and ethical practices in order to protect the University, researchers, and research subjects.

Regulations, guidelines, and forms are provided for researchers who intend to work with human subjects or use animals in research. Additionally, the website provides links to online training for research ethics and safety.

The Environmental Health and Safety Office oversees safety issues in research conducted at Mississippi State University. The office provides accident prevention programs, accident reporting, and safety resources. It also provides information, regulations, and forms for researchers who intend to work with biohazardous materials, chemicals, potentially flammable situations, and radiation. In addition, resources are provided for protecting the environment during research. The office provides directions for the appropriate disposal of environmentally harmful items, protecting air quality, and cleaning spills. Safety trainings are provided, including a laboratory safety course.

100 Research Blvd., Suite 120 X · P.O. Box 5282
Mississippi State, MS 39762
http://oett.msstate.edu/
662-325-9263

The Entrepreneurship Center and Office of Technology Commercialization have merged in a move designed to enhance the university’s relations with business and industry. The new Office of Entrepreneurship and Technology Transfer continues to boost the university’s efforts to efficiently capture, protect, manage and accelerate the commercialization of university-owned and student-generated intellectual property. The intellectual property stems from new ideas, inventions, software and other creative works generated by research and other scholarly activity.

The OETT team seeks to serve the university and its stakeholders by facilitating the transition of intellectual property to the marketplace. Please contact OETT with your creative works for counsel and assistance on intellectual property protection and commercialization as well as entrepreneurial plans prior to public disclosure.

The Commercialization Process starts with the disclosure of new ideas, inventions, software and creative works resulting from research and other scholarly activities.

The office supports Sponsored Programs Administration by reviewing IP terms of research grants, MTAs, IIAs, NDAs, etc. We also comply with the reporting and commercialization requirements which enables the university to take title to inventions developed with Federal support.

100 Research Boulevard, Suite 105
Starkville, MS 39759
http://www.coehranresearchpark.com/
662-325-9575

The Thad Cochran Research, Technology and Economic Development Park consists of 272 acres of gently rolling hills, beautifully landscaped buildings, and lakes surrounded by ornamental trees that create an ideal environment for research and technology oriented companies. Currently, there are ten buildings that house approximately 1500 employees in the park. Adjacent to the Mississippi State campus, the park is also home to several university research centers. Adding to the park’s competitiveness is the existing communications infrastructure to support tenants including MSU’s High Performance Computing Collaboratory which is a coalition of member centers established to advance knowledge and research in computational science and engineering. To achieve its goal, the enabling communications infrastructure has earned Mississippi State an 18th ranking for supercomputing power among American universities. The Phase II expansion of the park will cover 45 adjacent acres.

Many MSU offices are located in the Research Park, as well as a number of outside offices. Current tenants include the Center for Advanced Vehicular Systems, the High Performance Computing Collaboratory, nSPARC, the Social Science Research Center, the Office of Entrepreneurship and Technology Transfer, and the Energy Institute.

Financial Aid provides support for both undergraduate and graduate students seeking financial assistance. Types of financial aid available include federal financial aid with both grants and loans for students who qualify, state financial aid for Mississippi residents, institutional awards, and alternative private loans. Students seeking financial aid should fill out a FAFSA (Free Application for Federal Student Aid). One program available is the Federal Work-Study Program, a needs-based part time work program that allows students to earn money to help pay expenses. The mission of the MSU Safe Zone Advisory Board is to promote a welcoming, supportive and safe community for lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, and questioning (LGBTQ) faculty, staff and students, as well as campus and community allies. The Safe Zone Advisory Board serves as a resource for LGBTQ students. Trainings are provided each year for faculty and staff who want to become allies by completing the awareness training. Allies are committed to providing and maintaining a welcoming and safe community. Ally certificates, door hangers and stickers are given to those who have completed the training, in order to signify a safe space for LGBTQ students. The Safe Zone Advisory Board was the team recipient for the 2014 Diversity Award by the President’s Commission on the Status of Minorities.

Student Counseling Services facilitates the social, psychological and academic functioning of students. A variety of direct student services are available including psycho-educational workshops, student mentoring, supportive counseling, group counseling, intensive psychotherapy, crisis intervention, and psychiatric services. In its work with students, the staff seeks to remediate problems which impair the student’s ability to function, but they also focus on developing strengths and facilitating healthy human growth. Utilizing a collaborative team approach, the Student Counseling Services staff supports and encourages wellness and the pursuit of a positive psychology. Student Counseling Services endorses the worth and dignity of all human beings and embraces diversity as a valued and important quality of our community. The staff works to facilitate individual change as well as to contribute to a supportive and growth-producing social environment through social advocacy and community building.

The Department of Student Support Services (SSS) is a federally-funded program through the U.S. Department of Education. It is a TRIO program designed to assist eligible low income college students, first generation college students, and college students with disabilities to succeed in completing their college education. A limited number of students can be served under the federal grant program. The primary mission of SSS is to enhance educational opportunities for eligible students to improve their academic and social skills, increase their retention toward graduation and as appropriate, facilitate their entrance into graduate and/or professional schools.

Students who need academic accommodations based on a disability should visit the Office of Student Support Services, 01 Montgomery Hall, call (662) 325-3335, or visit the web site at www.sss.msstate.edu. Student Support Services’ staff reviews the documentation, assesses the needs of students with disabilities, and makes requests to the faculty and the University based on those needs. The department serves as a resource and clearing house for dissemination of information related to disabilities and compliance with section 504 of the 1973 Rehabilitation Act and the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA).

Mississippi State, MS 39762
writingcenter.msstate.edu
662-325-1045

Mississippi State University’s Writing Center is dedicated to helping students improve their writing skills. The Writing Center uses trained interns to help students through one-on-one instruction. The Writing Center is also equipped with computer labs and software to help teach students how to correctly format and revise papers. The Writing Center is open to all MSU students. Students may attend the Writing Center on their own for assistance with an assignment, or they may be referred by either an instructor or advisor (See http://www.writingcenter.msstate.edu/Writing%20Center%20Referral%20Form.pdf for the official referral form). It should be noted that the Writing Center does not proofread or edit papers, but instead teaches students how to write by pointing out patterns of grammatical errors observed in a student’s paper. The Writing Center is located on Presidents Circle in the Harpole House across from Allen Hall. In addition to the Writing Center’s main location, there is a second center, the Templeton Athletic Academic Center Writing Center, located in the Templeton Athletic Academic Center on Lakeview Drive (near Humphrey Coliseum).

Academically talented students seeking to enhance and enrich their college experience join the Shackouls Honors College. The Shackouls Honors College draws regional and national attention because of its size and structure. Though the college includes more than 1,000 students, honors classes typically are limited to no more than 20 students. Students receive individualized instruction from faculty members who challenge them to explore their potential. The Honors Advantage includes priority registration status, Honors housing, the freedom to explore and be challenged in small classes taught by outstanding professors, earning special honors distinction on transcripts, working side-by-side with MSU’s cutting-edge research faculty, participating in a variety of global adventures, individualized mentoring, help applying for national and international fellowships and awards, honing leadership skills by representing the honors student body on Honors Council, and giving something back through community service programs. Exemplary faculty have the opportunity to teach Honors classes.
Housing and Residence Life

Herbert Hall
Mississippi State, MS 39762
http://www.housing.msstate.edu/aboutus/
662-325-3555

Housing and Residence Life is a unit in the Division of Student Affairs with a goal to provide a living/learning environment which encourages and promotes student development personally and academically. Research has shown students who live on campus are more closely connected to the academic community. They tend to perform more fully academically, pursue involvement in extracurricular and leadership development opportunities, and cultivate a long-term commitment to the institution itself. As a self-supporting auxiliary in the university enterprise, the department is comprised of five areas where staff work diligently to make the housing experience at Mississippi State University the very best that it can be. These areas are assignments, contracts, and billing; residence life and programming; conferences, guest housing, and summer camps; maintenance, facilities, and custodial services; and budget and finance. Bed space capacity is approximately 4,800, and a variety of housing options are available for freshmen and entering students, upperclass students, and graduate students.

- 3.60-3.79 GPA: Magna Cum Laude
- 3.40-3.59 GPA: Cum Laude
- 4.0 GPA: President Stephen D. Lee Scholar (no academic forgiveness and a grade of “A” in all courses attempted)
Schedule Changes

Students may add or drop a class on the Web by accessing their university Banner account via my.msstate.edu. During the fall and spring semesters, a student has through the fifth class day (at 5 pm central) into the semester to drop a course and through the sixth class day (at 8 am central) to add a course without being assessed a fee or academic penalty. From the fifth class day through the 36th class day, a student who elects to drop a course must receive the approval of his or her advisor, will be assigned a W on his or her academic record, and will be assessed a fee. After the 36th class day (at 5 pm central), a student cannot drop courses except in documented cases of serious illness, extreme hardship, or failure of the instructor to provide significant assessment of his or her performance. A request to drop a course after the 30th class day must be approved by the student’s advisor and academic dean. A student receiving permission to drop will receive a W on his or her academic record and be assessed a fee after the last day to drop a course. (Please note that the Academic Calendar may not reflect new changes at the time of printing).

Finding and Searching the Master Schedule Online

Go to www.msstate.edu. Select “myState” in the upper-right corner. From the myState page, select “Class Schedule” from the list on the left side. Choose the appropriate term. For fall and spring terms, choose “All Parts of Term.” For summer, select “All” or choose a specific session. For most students, the campus will be Starkville. If known, choose a desired subject. (ex: EN – English). The search options below the line are optional and may be used to refine a search. For example, enter 1103 to view all sections on EN 1103 Composition, or use the day and time options to find a class that fits your schedule.
PATHFINDERS
Pathfinders is a program at Mississippi State University that began in the fall semester of 1998. It is funded by the Office of Academic Affairs, and its purpose is to assist freshmen in becoming personally responsible and self-directed in an environment that is academically more demanding and less regulated than high school. The Pathfinders program’s primary focus is on class attendance, which is why all instructors must report freshmen absences.

The above information was taken from http://www.pathfinders.org.msstat

Class Attendance
Faculty are encouraged to report absences, especially for freshmen, on a regular and timely basis. Attendance scanners are available in many of the larger classrooms with training available through Information Technology Services on using the attendance tracking module which supports these scanners. However, attendance may be reported on myBanner at any time.
e.edu/projectdescription.html
Incomplete Grades

A grade of I (incomplete) may be submitted in lieu of a final grade when the student, because of illness, death in his or her immediate family, or similar circumstances beyond his or her control, is unable to complete the course requirements or to take final examinations. The decision to issue a grade of I (incomplete) rests solely with the professor of record for the course. Undergraduate students who receive an I grade must complete all work within 30 calendar days from the date of the student’s next enrollment. A student who receives an I grade may make up only that part of coursework not completed because of an emergency. If a grade of I is not resolved into a passing grade within the allotted time, the grade becomes an F.

Course Retake Policy

Undergraduate students will be permitted to retake up to two courses, not to exceed eight credits undergraduate semester hours, with the original grade remaining on the transcript, but not counted towards the student’s GPA. This policy will be applied only to courses taken at Mississippi State University. For specific regulations and instructions on this policy, students should contact the Registrar’s Office or refer to Academic Operating Policy 12.20.

The student information on pages 64-68 was taken from Mississippi State University’s Student Handbook http://students.msstate.edu/pdf/studenthandbook.
Withdrawal

Any student leaving the university prior to the end of the period of enrollment, except for temporary absences, should initiate withdrawal procedures at his or her academic dean’s office. By completing this procedure, the student may prevent difficulties in obtaining transcripts, or in reentering the university, and will avoid having F’s automatically recorded for all courses taken during the semester. A student who withdraws after the 10th day of classes will receive a grade of W for each course scheduled. No withdrawals will be allowed during the last two weeks before the beginning of final examinations for the fall and spring semesters, and during the last week prior to the beginning of examinations for each five-week/10-week summer term. In highly unusual circumstances resulting from extreme hardship, a student may petition to withdraw retroactively from a semester within one calendar year. The request for withdrawal will be considered only when accompanied by appropriate documentation of the situation (e.g., medical emergency or administrative error) which was related to the student’s recorded academic performance for the semester in question. Such requests must be approved by the student’s advisor, department head, dean, and the provost. For cases other than administrative error in which final grades were recorded, the student’s instructors should be consulted before a final decision is rendered and should be notified after the decision is made. In no case will more than one semester’s work be retroactively withdrawn during a student’s matriculation at Mississippi State. For further questions or concerns about adding or dropping a class, contact the Registrar’s Office at 662-325-2022 or visit www.registrar.msstate.edu.

Campus-Wide Emergency Phone Number: 662-325-5555

Should a university-wide catastrophic event take place, the university has set up a phone number to call for information, 662-325-5555. Under normal situations, this number will have a prerecorded message indicating that everything is normal on campus.
The Mississippi State University Police Department is dedicated to providing the highest quality law enforcement and crime prevention services to our campus community. The police department understands the overall academic mission of the university and strives to play a vital role in enhancing that mission through crime prevention, education, inspection, and enforcement. The MSUPD consists of 30-plus sworn officers who are certified through the Mississippi Law Enforcement Officers’ Training Academy and have constable powers under authority of state statute. They also are responsible for enforcement of university rules and regulations as well as the laws of the state of Mississippi on the Mississippi State campus. Police jurisdiction includes all university owned, rented or leased property. The MSUPD stresses staff education in the form of in-service training and participation in local and state training seminars.

Weapon Possession

Many students and faculty members are hunters. However, the possession of any weapon on campus is of serious concern to the university. Under most circumstances, possession of a weapon is a violation of university policy and state law. Any individual found in possession of a weapon may be subject to arrest and confiscation of the weapon. It is a felony for a student to possess a weapon on campus.

Alcohol & Illegal Drugs

Mississippi State University prohibits the unlawful possession, use or distribution of illicit drugs and alcohol on university property. Any person failing to observe the drug and alcohol policy will be subject to sanctions by the university in accordance with established disciplinary procedures. In addition to university sanctions, any person found in violation of the drug and alcohol policy may be referred to the appropriate authorities for prosecution. Legal sanctions may include fine, imprisonment or both.

Crisis Intervention and Management

Emergency web site
www.emergency.msstate.edu

In case of an emergency, a blue or yellow banner will provide information at the top of the MSU home page at www.msstate.edu. The MSU emergency Web site also will be updated to inform students, faculty, staff, parents, and others about the threat on campus.
at the top of the page usually provides information; a yellow banner indicates a more serious condition.
HOW TO RECEIVE MAROON ALERT TEXT MESSAGES

To receive Maroon Alert text messages on a cell phone, an individual must provide a cell phone number to the MyBanner system. The procedure follows:
1. Log in to MyBanner at oncampus.msstate.edu/cp/home/loginf
2. Click on “Personal Information”
3. Click on “Update Your Directory and Address Information”
4. Enter a cell phone number in the “Maroon Alert” cell phone number field
5. Click on “Update/Verify Directory Information” to save this information. The cell phone number that you entered will be used for text message notifications in the event of a campus emergency requiring immediate action. It occasionally will also be used for tests of the Maroon Alert text message capability.

HOW DO YOU KNOW WHEN DANGER HAS PASSED?

Maroon Alert messages do not declare “all clear.” Typically, you will be advised to exercise caution as you return to normal activities. Continue to use good judgment and take personal responsibility for your safety. Emergency sirens: These always mean “seek safety.” Loudspeaker notifications: Loudspeakers in central campus locations will be used to provide additional instructions if conditions warrant.

Class Excuses

The Longest Student Health Center can provide verification that a student was seen and when. This does not excuse the student from class. It is the student’s responsibility to make arrangements with the instructor as to how absences will be handled.

ANIMAL HEALTH CENTER

The Animal Health Center is a part of the College of Veterinary Medicine. It provides general pet healthcare and 24-7 emergency services. Please call (662) 325-1351 if you are experiencing a pet emergency and would like your pet seen at the Animal Health Center.
